Draw a Christmas stocking

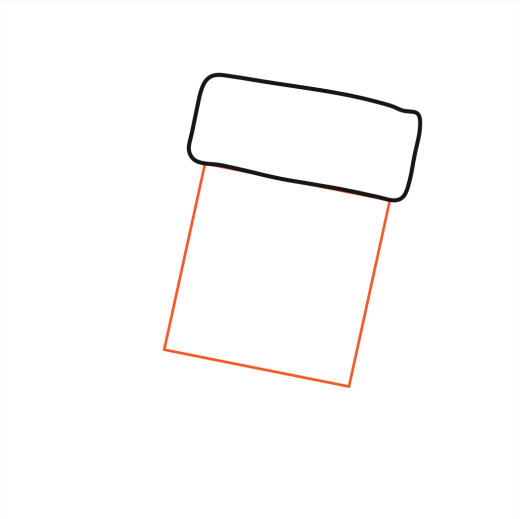

Draw guides lightly. Keep the outside outline, then erase the guides.

Orange: new marks Gray: light guides Black: keep these lines

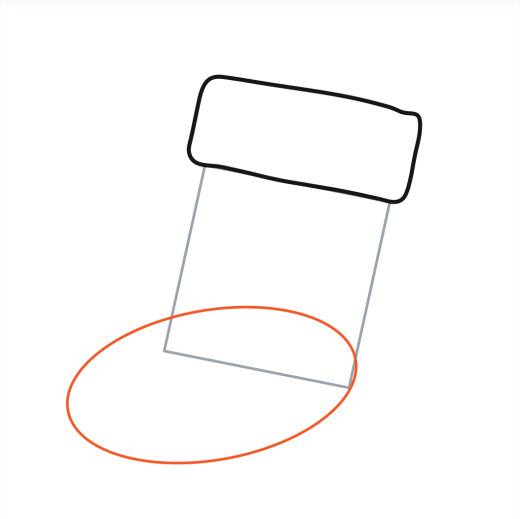

1. Start with a rectangle.

Draw a wide rectangle near the top, tilting it down to the right. Round its corners. This is the cuff; keep these lines.

2. Plan the long leg.

Lightly draw a slanted rectangle below the cuff, about twice the cuff's height. Its sides show the leg's direction. These light lines are guides to erase later.

3. Plan the rounded foot.

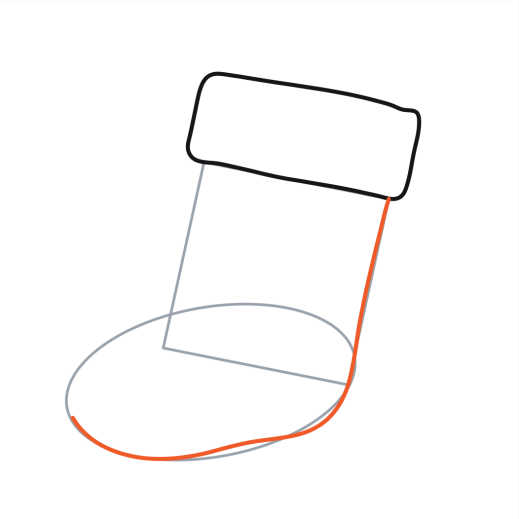

Lightly draw a wide oval across the bottom of the leg box. Extend it left to make the toe. Overlap the two shapes so the foot joins the leg.

4. Round the heel and sole.

Start at the cuff's lower-right corner. Follow the leg's outer side down, round the heel, and continue left along the bottom of the oval. Keep this smooth outline.

5. Join the toe to the cuff.

Continue around the oval's left end for the toe. Curve right across its top, then bend upward through the ankle to meet the cuff's lower-left corner. Skip the guide edges inside the stocking.

6. Erase the light guides.

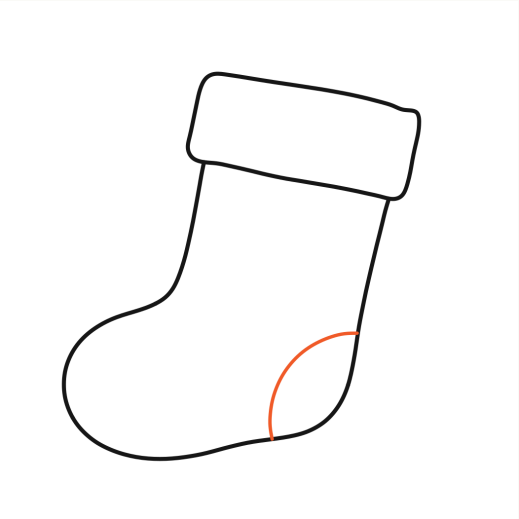

Erase the light leg box and oval, including their overlapping lines inside the stocking. Keep the cuff and the smooth outside outline.

7. Add the heel patch.

Start on the right side above the heel. Curve left and down to meet the sole, making one broad heel patch.

8. Make a hanging loop.

Start near the cuff's upper-right corner. Curve up and right, round the top, and return to the cuff to make a narrow hanging loop.

9. Finish inside the loop.

Start beside the loop's lower-left end. Curve up inside it to meet the top-right bend. Keep the spaces inside the loop open.
