Drawing sheet · Steps 1–4

Draw a reindeer

Use a pencil. Draw only the visible outlines; no guide lines or erasing are needed.

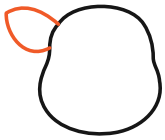

Orange: add these marks Black: already drawn Draw with your pencil.

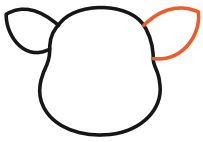

1 The rounded head

Draw a wide, rounded head. Make the cheeks broader than the forehead and curve under them to close the chin.

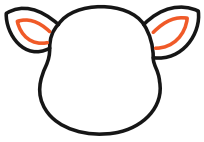

2 One leaf-shaped ear

From the upper-left side of the head, curve out to a rounded point. Curve down and back to meet the side of the head.

3 The other ear

Make a matching leaf-shaped ear on the right. Start near the forehead and finish against the side of the head.

4 Inside the ears

Draw a smaller curve inside the left ear, following its outer shape. Stop before the head. Repeat inside the right ear.

5 Start the first antler

Start on the left side of the forehead, above the ear. Curve up and out to the left, then round the first antler tip.

Enlarged detail; use the full picture for placement.

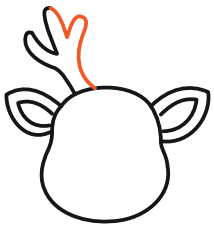

6 The middle antler tip

From that tip, curve down and right into a dip. Turn up to make a taller middle tip, rounding its top.

8 The second antler

Repeat the three rounded tips on the right, facing the other way. Start and finish on the forehead, above the right ear.

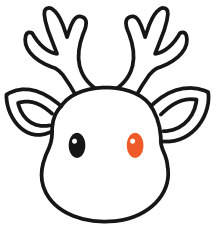

9 One bright eye

Enlarged detail; use the full picture for placement.

10 The other eye

Draw the same tall oval on the right at the same height. Leave its tiny white spot near the top-left corner, then shade around it.

11 Two curved brows

Draw a short, gentle arch above the left eye. Add a matching arch above the right eye.

12 The oval nose

Between and below the eyes, draw a wide oval nose. Leave its middle white.

13 A relaxed smile

Below the nose, draw a shallow U for the smile. Curve both ends gently upward.

Your reindeer is ready.

Choose a color for the nose, or leave your reindeer as a black-line drawing. A slightly different smile or pair of antlers can make it yours. Try your drawing on the next page.
