How to draw a waving snowman

Complete phone guide · 7 drawing pictures

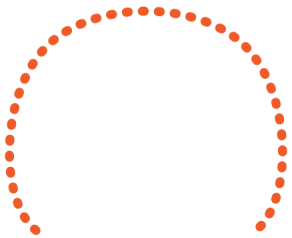

Follow every picture in order. Fit the page to your screen width; swipe to continue.

Paper and pencil + eraser.

Dotted orange lines are the marks to add. Solid charcoal lines are marks already drawn. The dash pattern preserves the distinction without color.

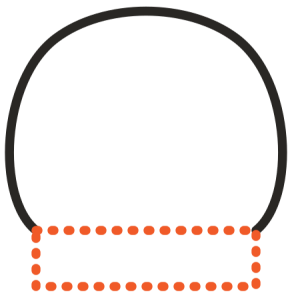

1. Start with the head

- Draw a round head, leaving a wide gap at the bottom.

> Keep plenty of room below for the body.

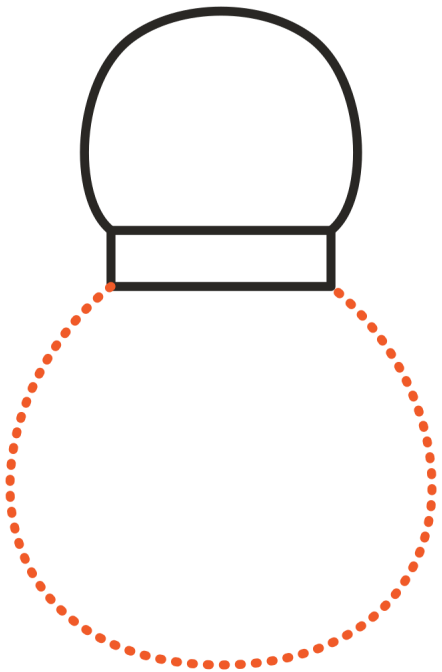

2. Join the head with a scarf

- Join the two ends with the top of a short, wide rectangle.
- Add its sides and bottom to make the scarf.

> The scarf closes the gap. You do not need to erase a line.

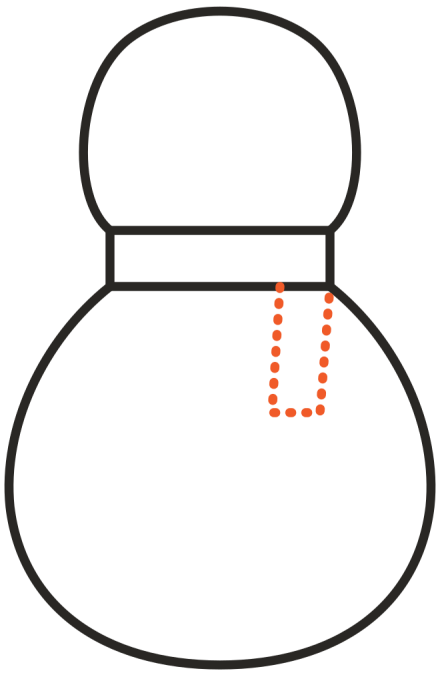

3. Draw the body below

- From the scarf's bottom-left corner, draw a big U under the head.
- Finish at the bottom-right corner.

> Make the body wider than the head. The scarf is its top edge.

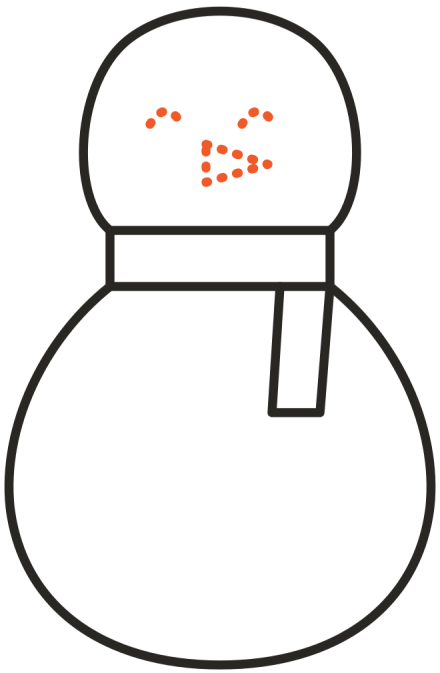

4. Add the scarf's hanging end

- Draw two short lines down from the right side of the scarf's bottom edge, then join their ends.

> The existing scarf edge is the top of this tail.

5. Give your snowman a face

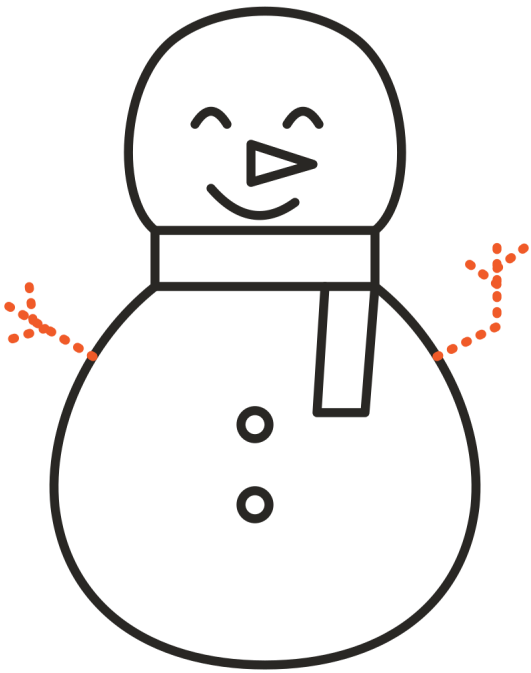

- Draw two small upside-down U shapes for the eyes.
- Below them, add a narrow triangle pointing right for the carrot nose.

6. Add a smile and buttons

- Add one curved smile below the nose and two small round buttons down the body.

7. Finish with a waving arm

- Draw one arm out to the left.
- For the right arm, draw a short line out, then turn it upward.
- Add two short twigs to each arm.

> Your snowman is finished. Choose a favorite color for the scarf if you like.